AGED SISTERS REUNITED.

Sixty-Five Years of Separation Brought to a Happy End.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. &-An extraordinary family reunion has just taken place at the home of Mrs. Rebecca Cavenaugh, No. 639 Wainut street, Camden, participated in by some fifty persons, r presenting four generations, ranging in ages from 2 years to 90 years.

aged sisters met, of whom two Three aged sisters met, of whom two had not seen the third for 62 years, and had long believed her dead. They were Mrs. Margaret Kennedy, aged 82, living with her daughter, Mrs. Covenaugh; Mrs. Sarah Schneider of Newfield, N. J., aged 90, and daughter, Mrs. Covenaugh; Mrs. Sarah Schnelder of Newield, N. J., aged St. and Mrs. Sylvia Robbins, aged St. years, living with her granddaughter, Mrs. Samuel Parsons, at Phillipsburg, N. J.

The three aged women are daughters of Dennis and Abigail Mctarty, who at the time of their birth lived near Blackwoodtown, N. J.

Soon after the birth of Mrs. Robbins the porents deel, and the shifters were separated, being taken to rear by different relatives living in various parts of the country. Mrs. Robbins was adopted by an aunt, living in Philadelphia, with whom she made her home until she attained the age of by years, when she married, and with her husband at once started for a new home in Ohio. A short time ago, in the course of a family conversition, Mrs. Robbins spoke of her childhood days at Blackwoodtown and expressed a great dedire to discaver the whereabouts of her sisters, if still in the hand of the living. Mr. Porsons, her granddaughter's husband, determined, if possible, to locate the old ladles, and in pursuance of this purpose he write to the Postmaster at Blackwoodtown, inquiring for the McCurty family. The Postmaster, learning that Mrs. Schneider and Mrs. Kennedy here the maiden name of McCarty, and that one lived in Newfield and the other in Camden, forwarded the letter of Mr. Parsons to them. They were overjoyed to learn that their long-lost sister was still living, and to discover her wheresbouts, and lost to time in arranging for the happy reunion of last night.

All three of the aged ladles are still hale

All three of the aged ladies are still hale All three of the aged ladies are still hale and hearty, and in full possession of all their mental faculties. Mrs. Robbins is the mather of thise children, of whom seven are living: Mrs. Kennedy has had fifteen children, of whom seven still live, while Mrs. Schneider has never been a mother.

Mrs. Robbins and Mrs. Schneider will leave Camden for their respective homes to-day, but, although rapidly approaching the century mark of life, they do not anticipate that the reunion of Monday night will be the last earthly meeting of the venerable trio.

Local Business Men Intend to Give

Large Chorus Concert

Talent of the City to Be Developed and Trained-Soloists of Note Engaged-Orchestra of Ninety Men.

A new musical organization has been developed in St. Louis within the last week, the enterprise having for its object the furtherance of local talent and the permanent consolidation of the popular local musical interests. The new body has assumed the name of the St. Louis Musical Festival Association.

A number of business men have organized under this title and propose, as an initial effort, to give a series of concerts on a large scale at the Collseum early in November. A chorus of at least 500 voices is to be assembled, a great number having already signified their intention of particlpating. Contracts have also been signed with some of the leading soloists of Europe and America, their services being available before the opening of the grand opera season

An orchestra of ninety members will furnish the instrumental music, and the concerts will be led by the various conductors well known to St. Louisans. It is intended that the concerts shall be repeated in succeeding years.

Mr. Clemens Strassberger has been chosen for the presidency, with C. P. Walbridge, cx-Mayor of the city, as vice president. About thirty citizens will act as an advisory board. Lee A. Hall will act as general manager, H. E. Rice as chorus manager and W. W. Hail as secretary and treasurer. The finance and other business interests are in charge of a finance committee sisiting of W. H. Woodward, Doctor Emil Prectorius and C. P. Walbridge, Messrs. W. E. Pommer, E. R. Kroeger and Charles

P. Seymour have been assigned to prepare the programmes for the season. The entire Choral-Symphony Orchestra, in-creased to ninety men, will be the instru-mental center of the concerts. As a special

The nations hold their lands, and some other property in common, and whatever is collected therefrom, such as hay, timber, coal and royalties has heretofore been apportioned between the nations upon the basis of three-fourths to the Choctaws and one-fourth to the Chickasaws. Task Seems Not So Great. The completion of the work does not apare puzzled over one of the strangest cases of illness that has come under their observation. Miss Mamie Burch, daughter of B. S. Burch, a weil-known citizen of this place, has just emerged from her fourth trance. Doctor J. E. Booth, one of Petersburg's most prominent physicians, says that he has never known of such a remarkable case. Before she went into these trances Miss Burch was suffering from a violent form of dyspepsia. About six months ago the young lady went into her first trance, and for three weeks she could not be roused or take nourishment. In the second trance she would sing most heautifully, but still she could not be communicated with at all.

In one of her trances she imagined that she saw her dead brother. These trances Doctor Booth says, are the only things that have saved her life, as medical skill had been exhausted when nature came to the fescue and put her in a peaceful trance to the disease.

Each time Miss Burch would awake restored to fair health, with the exception of great emaciation from the deprivation of food. The mental faculties after each trance Miss Burch would awake restored to fair health, with the exception of great emaciation from the deprivation of food. The mental faculties after each trance Miss Burch was expected to differ misser exhaustion, which nature seems to recoperate during the trance, Miss of these trances, and is now able to take light nourishment, which was impossible before her trance, and is the work of the difficult to reach in a hurry.

Scott committee on Steam Rairoads and Southern were always clear, and she would stay that she enjoyed the sleep and feit benefited therefrom.

When awake a severe froth is expectorated all the time. On the verge of each trance were always clear, and she would she for her trance, and is now able to take light nourishment, which was impossible before her trance, and is now able to take light nourishment, which was impossible before her trance, and is now able to take light nourishment, which was impossible before her trance, pear so arduous a task as at first sight, when it is borne in mind that an increase of the fund a boom of great value.

Brewers Are Reluctant.

The return to the city of a number of prominent brewers will also enable definite action to be taken on the brewery subscription, on which Mr. W. F. Nolker has worked earnestly for months without, so far, definite results. Additional large sums are relied upon from several lines. The question is frequently asked how much in excess of $5,00,000 will the committees have to go in order to insure the actual payment of that sum in response to calls under the terms of the subscription. The greatest care has been exercised in accepting subscriptions, and it is believed that the percentage of defaults on calls will be very small. It will be remembered that the Autumnal Festivities Association collected in cash more than 36 per cent of the $400,000 subscribed in 1891 for the provision of attractions in St. Louis during preparations for and the holding of the World's Columbian Exposition. International and other large expositions held in this country have collected in the neighborhood of 33 and 35 per cent of the amount signed for, and it is believed that equally good results can be relied upon in regard to the Louisiana Purchase Centennial signatures and the collections thereon.

The Finance Committee will be materially aided in this work and he able to strike simultaneously in every available direction by prompt completion of the necessary proliminary fund. Under the terms of the subscription the first 16 per cent is not legally due until the entire $0,00,000 has been signed for. A strict adherence to this technicality would leave the committee entirely without funds for aggressive work, both in the city and in the State, to say nothing of missionary work which must be done without further delay, both in the Eastern States and in Europe.
